RESOLUTION IS READY

Attack on Leader of Ecorse Negro Voters Blamed on Men

WASHINGTON, June 8—(UP)—Sen. Elmer A. Benson, F-L, Minn., and Rep. Samuel Dickstein, D, N. Y., today introduced in congress a concurrent resolution for a joint investigation of the Black Legion and other organizations "spreading similar unAmerican propaganda of religious, racial or subversive political prejudices."

The resolution authorizes four senators and four representatives to make the investigation and sets up a sum of not more than $100,000 for the inquiry.

WASHINGTON, June 8—(UP)—Sen. Elmer A. Benson, F-L, Minn., and Rep. Samuel Dickstein, D, N. Y., today introduced in congress a concurrent resolution for a joint investigation of the Black Legion and other organizations "spreading similar unAmerican propaganda of religious, racial or subversive political prejudices."

Dickstein and Benson, who introduced resolutions in congress last week proposing an investigation of the Black Legion, were invited to come to Detroit by Prosecutor Duncan McCreary, who told them a congressional inquiry is necessary because of jurisdictional difficulties which make it impossible for the department of justice to intervene.

To introduce resolutions

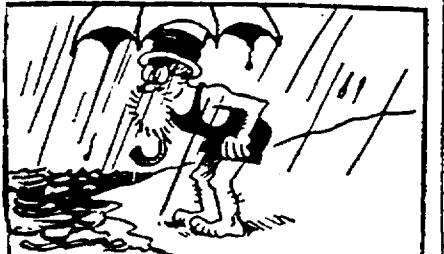

Before leaving for Detroit Benson said he had made arrangements to further the investigation plan by having introduced to both houses today a joint resolution calling for the probe. This would supplant the two separate resolutions now pending and Benson said every effort will be made to obtain action before adjournment.

DETROIT, June 8—(UP)—Police sought today to tie the attempted murder of Clarence Oliver, negro political campaigner of suburban Ecorse, into the chain of evidence against the Black Legion which has already brought 25 arrests throughout the state on charges ranging from flogging to murder.

Oliver, on the day of the attack, Feb. 8, had closed a village election campaign with a plea to negro voters to fight those Alabama crackers who are trying to run the town.

That night a bullet was fired into his home from a moving automobile. It just missed him.

Adkins to Issue Call; New Chairman to Be Named

The new Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. in the party's headquarters in the American Hotel. Announcement of the meeting date was made by George G. Adkins, retiring chairman.

Cards will be put in the mails to the new committeemen Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning.

Indications are that Lawrence E. Goeller, Kippy Kit operator, will be elected chairman to succeed Mr. Adkins. The present chairman and Ernie Weiler, president of the Pickaway-co Democratic Club, have declared they will decline nomination.

EAKER FLIES 'BLIND' FROM EAST TO WEST

LOS ANGELES, June 8—(UP)—Major Ira C. Eaker, army flier, was hailed today for a pioneer achievement in aviation following his "blind" flight from New York to Los Angeles in 23 hours.

The veteran pilot flew the entire distance in a hooded cockpit. He was guided only by his instrument panel and information radioed to him from a convoy plane flown by Maj. William E. Kepner.

TIPPETT PLEADS FOR RELIGION IN HOME; 400 HEAR

Pastor Features Annual Meeting of County's Sunday Schools

VETERANS ARE ELECTED

Mrs. Reber to Direct Work Among Young People; Lanman President

Modern youth and parents went under the microscope Sunday for religious analysis when the sixty-ninth Education and fourth annual Youth's conference were held in the Methodist Episcopal church.

Approximately 400 persons attended the afternoon and evening sessions. The Ladies Guild served 130 at the Youth banquet. Sessions of the two organizations lasted nine hours.

"There isn't enough religion in the home today that if it were snuff it would make a child sneeze," Dr. Donald Tippet, pastor of Bexley M. E. church and one of the principal speakers for the convention, told delegates.

Religion Contagious

"All that's done for children is 15 or 16 minutes at church school," Dr. Tippet said. "Religion is contagious and children get religion by contagion. You owe your children a christian home and lives after which they may pattern their lives."

"Mothers expect children to take their religion voluntarily, absorb it as they wish, yet these same mothers shove their children into society, county clubs and the leading rolls of a class play. Racial prejudices and opinions on many subjects are born at a mother's knee."

"I take my hat off to the youth of today for not being worse than they are. Some of you parents would have stepped higher, wider and more handsome if you could travel like the youth of today."

Dr. Tippet presented an interesting account of replies he had received from five college deans on subjects in which modern youth showed the greatest interest. Four of the deans reported they had noticed the present generation was most interested in subjects dealing with social, political, economic and world interests.

Loss of Chivalry

"Discipline is lower today and there has been a loss of chivalry," the speaker said. "Chivalry has died because women left their pedestal."

GRAHAM ORDERS FOUR TO COUNTY JAIL AS DRUNKS

Mayor W. J. Graham started "clamping down" on drunks Monday morning in police court.

He committed four to the county jail when they failed to pay fines of $10 and costs each on drunk and disorderly charges.

Those fined were Charles Hott, 64, city; Orville Pritchard, 28, Tar Hollow district near Adelphi; Harry Ratcliff, who resides in the southend, formerly of Fox, and James McDonald, 36, of Akron.

"I'm going to put a stop to this Saturday night drunkenness," the mayor said, "and offenders will find plenty of room outside the city of Circleville for their drunken quarrels."

ELECTRICIAN, 59, JAILED AS EXECUTIVE'S KILLER

COLUMBUS, June 8—(UP)—Hance Hamilton, 59, Columbus electrician, was to be arraigned here today on a first degree murder charge. Hamilton confessed to killing Alvin H. Wiegell, an executive of the Federal Glass Co. Hamilton was said to have struck Wiegell with a pipe during an argument over a debt.

TWO MEN CAUGHT IN MINE SHAFT AS ROOF CAVES

PAXTON, Ind., June 8—(UP) Rescue squads worked frantically today to reach two men trapped in a coal mine shaft after an explosion and cave-in. Acrid fumes filled the mine and choking workers said they feared the victims dead.

The two, Charles Webb, Pleasantville, and Dan Williams, Paxton, were preparing the shaft for entrance of workers today. Both are married.

Mine officials said they believed a roof caved in and the explosion of accumulated gases followed.

14 INSANE MEN ESCAPE PRISON

Governor of Minnesota Sends Guards to Scene

ST. PETER, Minn., June 8—(UP)—George Tremont, one of 16 prisoners who escaped from the state insane hospital at St. Peter yesterday, was captured this morning at New Ulm. Thirteen convicts remained at large.

ST. PETER, Minn., June 8—(UP)—A company of national guard machine gunners tracked the tangled bottoms of the Minnesota river today on the trail of 14 criminal escapees who fled from the state asylum under the leadership of a former member of the notorious Barker-Karpis gang.

Farmers along the river conducted their business guardedly, warned that the fugitives may attempt raids on their homes to obtain firearms, knives and other weapons. They were armed only with table legs when they scaled the asylum walls last night after beating five guards.

Fifty police and sheriff's possemen patrolled highways, warning residents. All were armed heavily. Officers from the criminal apprehension bureau in St. Paul were rushed to the scene shortly after the break. Gov. Floyd Olson, informed of a potential "siege of terror," ordered out company D of the north infantry of the national guard.

Four fugitives were known to be desperate and dangerous. Lawrence Devol, who led the break, was with Arthur Barker and Alvin Karpis when they raided a Minneapolis bank in 1932 and killed two officers and a civilian.

Before being transferred here, Devol has been in solitary confinement in Stillwater penitentiary, where he had been sentenced to a life term. Prison officials there said he raved continuously, attacked guards, and appeared mad.

Slain by Student

CHARLES WESLEY PHY, English professor at Lehigh university, Bethlehem, Pa., was shot to death in a corridor of the institution by a senior student, Wesley Clow, of Pine Castle, Fla. Clow committed suicide on the scene. Police said Clow was enraged by the professor's refusal to permit him to take a re-examination.

DAVEY'S BOARD MOVES TO JOIN WELFARE UNITS

Bill to Be Presented in Assembly in Month Asking County Action

SECURITY ACT CAUSE

Commissioners Would Pick Director for All Combined Activities

Pickaway and every other county in Ohio would have a unit of the Ohio welfare department if the plan of Governor Davey's efficiency committee is carried out.

The committee is drafting a bill which would combine in a single department the various relief, social security and welfare activities in each county now under the commissioners or agencies established by them.

Harry Silver, member of the committee and finance director under Governor Myers Cooper, says the need for such action has become acute because of the federal social security program.

Funds Delayed

The social security board in Washington has informed state officials that allocation of funds will not be made to Ohio until a program of conformity with federal standards has been adopted.

Objection to the present Ohio set-up has been raised by federal authorities on grounds that the multiplicity of county welfare agencies necessitates excessive cost and makes it difficult for officials to determine who is responsible for the administration of funds.

The efficiency committee's plan provides for a department in each county, headed by a director appointed by the commissioners. The director would be responsible for the administration of blind pensions, old age pensions, funds for aid to dependent children and other welfare activities, and would

HEALTHIER AND MAYOR CONFER

City May Be Included in Dog Quarantine Order

Since issuing an order Saturday that all dogs in Pickaway-co must be penned or tied for 30 days, Dr. V. D. Kerns health officer, has received a number of inquiries from owners about muzzling dogs and leaving them run at large.

"Muzzled dogs must be kept in yards," the doctor announced, "and not be permitted to run at large."

Another case of rabies was positive Monday when Dr. Kerns received a report from the state health department concerning a head sent in Saturday. The dog was owned by Lester Poling, Salt-creek-twp. No other cases were reported over the week-end.

Dr. Kerns planned to confer with Mayor W. J. Graham, Monday, to include the city in the quarantine regulations.

Rabies is believed to have been brought into this district by stray dogs. Harry Riffe, dog warden, has started a campaign to rid the county of stray and unlicensed dogs to curb the disease.

BRITISH ADVISE HULL WAR DEBT NOTE DEFAULTED

WASHINGTON, June 8—(UP) The British government advised the state department in a formal note today that it would be unable to pay its June 15 war debt installment of $668,474.071.

The note was sent by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, in reply to a notice from Secretary of State Cordell Hull reminding London that the installment was due. The answer to Hull's note, which showed British to be in arrears more than three years, was not unexpected.

Michigan's Favorite Son Declares He Is Not Out to Stop Governor

CLEVELAND, June 8—(UP)—Supporters of Gov. Alfred M. Landon today claimed new gains of delegate strength in the face of stop-Landon talk among delegations pledged to other Republican presidential prospects.

John D. M. Hamilton, Landon manager, contended his candidate had suffered no losses in pre-convention skirmishing and had won new strength in many delegations.

Rep. Joseph Martin, Jr., R., Mass., Landon convention floor manager, who yesterday forecast Landon's nomination on the second ballot today predicted the Kansas governor would be nominated on the initial roll call.

No Forecast Made

Neither Hamilton nor Martin would make any new forecast of Landon's exact present delegate total.

CLEVELAND, June 8—(UP)—The Texas Republican delegation in caucus here today voted unanimously to cast its 25 ballots for Gov. Alf Landon, of Kansas, on the first roll call.

CLEVELAND, June 8—(UP)—Sen. William E. Borah, traveling alone from Washington, arrived here at 8:30 a. m. today, uncertain as to how active a part he will take in his party's convention.

Borah still refused to concede the nomination to anyone, declaring "I am still in the race."

LYLE C. WILSON

CLEVELAND, June 8—(UP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon's opponents are on the run today.

The Kansan has captured nearly half of New York's delegates and is reaching toward Pennsylvania for enough votes to clinch the nomination.

A Vandenberg - for - President movement is being hatched and Sen. William E. Borah has arrived to rally the stop-Landon troops.

But the opposition to Landon is already knee-deep in the shoal water of Lake Erie.

And tomorrow at 11 a. m. the gavel falls at the Republican national convention with Landonites in the saddle. His nomination for president seems certain on an early ballot.

Big States Caucus

Zero hour for the Landon stampede comes today when New York and Pennsylvania caucus, possibly revealing the long forecast eastern break for the governor. A poll taken by newspapermen aboard the special train which brought New York's delegates to Cleveland showed 40 votes assured for Landon. His supporters were claiming at least 75.

A platform tangle is snarling the last hours of pre-convention madness. All hands are agreed on a swing to the state's rights against federal interference with the rights of men and machines. But how to say it and in how many words is causing argument and anger. Fundamentally, the dispute would reach the floor in some form was practically assured today by former President Hoover's statement, en route to Cleveland, that even if a constitutional amendment were necessary, the state's should be given authority to legislate for the regulation of the condition of women's labor. United States Supreme Court invalidation of New York's minimum wage law tossed that issue right through the basket and onto the convention floor. The "Home Rule" proposition has much support among Landonites.

An anonymous leaflet—third of a pre-convention series—said Kansans neither drink nor smoke bananas.

THURSDAY

11 a. m. convene for presidential nomination speeches. Roll call on president. Vice presidential nominations. Roll call on vice president. Election of national committee.

HOOVER RESTING IN CHICAGO ON WAY TO MEETING

CHICAGO, June 8—(UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover arrived in Chicago today on his way to Cleveland, where he will address the Republican national convention.

Hoover will leave for Cleveland tomorrow, spending the night with friends here and putting finishing touches to the address he will make to the convention.

THE SIDEWALK PROJECT

CINCINNATI property owners have an excellent opportunity to help beautify their city, and at the same time take steps to eliminate danger of injury to pedestrians. This is provided through the sidewalk project about to be launched by the WPA in conjunction with city officials. There are miles and miles of walks in Circleville that are eye-sores; these same miles provide daily dangers to persons who travel them. The sidewalk project, all details of which have not been worked out as yet, will assure construction of new walks at a low cost. The opportunity is the finest ever offered Circleville residents, and it is hoped that wholehearted co-operation is given the program. Councilmen and project officials have been conferring in an effort to complete details. It is believed the project will be under way within two weeks' time.

TAKE HIM BACK

JUST where Representative Marion A. Zioncheck, of the State of Washington, belongs properly is a question which may inspire some differences of opinion. Just how Mr. Zioncheck came to be sent to the House of Representatives from his district in Washington is a question which cannot easily be answered. It may at least be maintained successfully, however, that he does not belong in Congress.

The name of Mr. Zioncheck has been in the news almost constantly for some months. He has been arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, for speeding, for contempt, resisting an officer, for a brawl with his landlady. He has been charged with jumping his bail bond. He was involved in an automobile accident and a riot in Porto Rico, incidental features of his wedding trip. Back in Washington, his antics resulted in his detention on a lunacy charge. It is inconceivable that the State of Washington or the nation can derive any benefit from the continuance of Mr. Zioncheck as a member. His conduct, in fact, reflects discredit upon that body and upon his State. The young man is obviously at least irrational and it would be a kindly and a thoughtful thing if he were taken in hand and sent back to Washington, perhaps to a suitable institution for rest and treatment.

A new comet of the ninth magnitude has just been photographed at Harvard. These pre-season appraisals are often a little exaggerated, however, and it may be that he will be hard-pressed to make even the second team.

The more we learn of the antics of Representative Zioncheck the more apparent it becomes that the voters of Seattle had ulterior motives in sending him 2,000 miles away to Washington.

HOOVER, BORAH EXPLOSIVE FORCES

CLEVELAND—Obviously it would be foolhardy to attempt to predict how many ballots it will take to nominate or defeat Governor Landon as presidential standard-bearer of the Republican Party.

He is far out in front, and it will take a lot to block him. But there are two spots to keep your eye on as the Grand Old Party gathers here to select the man it hopes will "Stop Roosevelt".

One is the spot occupied by Herbert Hoover, ex-President of the United States and titular leader of the Republican Party. The other is the spot occupied by Senator William Edgar Borah, most powerful and picturesque campaigner the Party possesses.

These two have only one thing in common—opposition to the chief aspirant of the Party, Alf Landon of Kansas. They resent Landon almost as much as they resent each other—which is considerable.

And the big question in the minds of many GOP strategists is whether these two can be prevented from exploding at each other and at Landon.

HOOVER'S SPEECH

The particular source of their worry is the speech the ex-President is scheduled to make from the convention rostrum. Originally it was understood that Hoover would not go to Cleveland and that his picture would not decorate the convention hall. He was not a candidate.

Then, by a surprise maneuver, Old Guard leaders put him down for a speech. Caught unaware, the Landon managers swallowed hard, hastily issued an approving statement.

But it fooled no one. It was an open secret that they secretly opposed giving Hoover any opportunity to loose his pent-up resentment. To them it seemed like playing with matches in a power house.

For when he addresses the Republican delegates herein assembled, Mr. Hoover, as head of the Party, will have a Heaven-sent opportunity to counsel them on the sort of candidate they should select and without even mentioning Landon's name, he can, if he so desires, make an indirect but extremely effective attack against the man who at present is so far out in front as Republican nominee. This has been done before, notably by Bryan at the famous Baltimore Convention in 1912. With the nomination almost in the hands of Champ Clark, Bryan's oratory turned the tide and enabled Woodrow Wilson to win.

An adroitly handled attack might put Landon in Champ Clark's position, and no one knows this better than his managers.

FIGHTING BORAH

Even if Hoover does not rock the Landon boat, Landon managers are casting nervous eyes in the direction of the lion from Idaho. They are afraid anything may touch him off, and their fears are quite justified.

The Senator is fighting made. He considers himself "ganged", double-crossed and flouted. He feels that Old Guard forces in every state primary were out to get him, that Republican money was spent freely against him, that many of the Old Guards would rather see Roosevelt in the White House than William E. Borah. In this Borah is probably right.

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Spencer, a small town school teacher, recently disappointed in love, is engaged as secretary to Julian Sloane, noted playwright. Joan likes her new position and enjoys the life at Sloane's luxurious summer home. Her new employer reprimands her, however, when she tells him she is a friend of Sloane's. One morning Joan returns from the store to find a beautiful woman embracing Julian in the library. Joan meets Sheila True, an actress and close friend of Julian's who obviously is jealous of the new secretary. Following a check-up, Joan returns to find Julian much concerned over the disappearance of the last chapter of the book he is writing. A blonde hairpin in her typewriter convinces Joan that Sheila has taken the missing manuscript to make Joan look careless. But the young secretary simply retypes her notes. Joan's sister persuades her to attend the wedding of Stephan Winslow whom Joan had expected to marry. At a week-end party at Julian's, Sheila publicly insults Joan.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

"IF YOU FELT the way I do, you'd kick it in," Joan said furiously but not loudly enough for Julian to hear when he knocked on her door following Sheila's insult. She wrapped her robe tighter about her slim figure and made a pass at her rumpled hair but there was nothing she could do about the twin flames of anger that burned redly in her cheeks. "Yes, what is it, Mr. Sloane?" she asked, opening the door and speaking in the icy voice she would have used to Sheila True herself. Immediately she was sorry; Julian looked unhappy.

"I... I'm frightfully sorry, Joan. I know it all and was honest. She believed that I... well, after all, I am your secretary and not your hostess and she is quite right. There's no need to apologize. I just don't happen to like the way she did it."

"Come, Joan, don't be childish just because Sheila is... She's a spoiled brat and she has the idea of showing off temperaments. She's just bad manners. Oh, I'm just as bad as she is. Please won't you forget it, Mr. Sloane."

"Certainly I will, my dear, if you'll come along now. They're all off to the pool. I swear they don't come out here to see me. It's that swimming pool they care about. Come along."

"I'm sorry," Joan answered firmly, "but I'm not coming to the pool!" and then, because Julian looked so uncomfortable, "I have a few things I've been planning to do this afternoon. Please excuse me."

The things Joan had to do were no more important than thinking how much she'd like to humiliate the beautiful Sheila, and heap a few coils of fire on her head. The time, by the time Joan had let these thoughts get the better of her, she was in the exact frame of mind of a little girl who isn't allowed to go to the party. She positively longed to be down there having fun. But she stayed in her room shutting out the sounds of merry laughter until a few minutes before dinner.

At dinner Joan had planned to wear a black organdie dress since there was to be dancing later. Instead she wore a checkedingham and her best sports shoes as befits a proper secretary. But she tied a blue ribbon around her hair little girl fashion and she had her tongue in her cheek when she did it. She knew it would make her look years younger than Sheila and that Sheila would know it.

She went down the back stairs and through the kitchen to the dining room. She wanted a last minute inspection of the supper tables. She'd done a nice job of flower and candle arrangements, she was thinking pleasantly, and did not hear a foot-fall until Sheila stood beside her.

"Joan," Sheila's voice was low and menacing. "I'm perfectly nasty tonight. Please, will you forgive me? I didn't... I really didn't mean to hurt you. In fact, I wasn't even thinking about you. I don't remember what I said but Julian told me it was simply disgusting. Please... please will you forgive me?"

"Okay, let's forget it," Joan found occasion to slip away immediately after the meal. The music came up to her from the first floor and she felt very much alone until, finally, yielding to the impulse, she once again slipped down the back stairs and let herself out into the grounds.

She didn't mind being alone here. The music and the stars and the fragrance of the earth and the very moon soothed and peaceful. She wandered slowly down the path toward the lowest terrace. She was not alone. There was a solitary figure standing in her path.

He held his lighter, cupped in his hand, to his face and while he lighted his cigarette, Joan saw that he was a stranger.

"Nice out here, isn't it?" he said. His voice was low and a slight Latin accent lent a caressing note to it. "Isn't it?" she answered pleasantly.

"Cigarette?" He held a gold diamond encrusted case toward her. "Thanks," she took one and again the lighter glowed as he held it to her face. It was over in an instant but she saw the quick flash in his dark eyes, photographing her face.

"Can I persuade you to sit this one out with me?" he asked. He had a way of saying it as though he were hoping to persuade Joan that Paradise would be his if she would say the word. She tried to remember who he was. He had been one of the three people in the back seat of Alex Garrity's car and he must have seen that humiliating scene.

"I'm afraid not," she said quickly. "I'm Mr. Sloane's secretary, you know, and I've just come out for a breath of air."

"But there's so much of it, can't we share it?" It was all right with Joan. Just so long as he didn't think she was presuming. They talked. They had a second cigarette. He told her he was a Frenchman and didn't know any American girls. He thought the American business girl was the most interesting of all types he had ever met. He asked Joan about her job and he asked her all about Julian Sloane. And as many things about Julian and Sheila as a gentleman could delicately.

To the latter questions, he got most uninformative answers. Joan thought Pierre-Pierre Durand he said his name was—was utterly charming but whether he had a purpose or not in discussing Julian, Joan was not going to enlighten him.

Besides she didn't know any of the right answers. She had assumed that Julian and Sheila meant a great deal to each other. Sheila's possession of Julian's name was a matter of familiarity with Sheila meant something. Much Joan did not know, but they were in love or Sheila was Julian's love, she did not doubt. Surely Sheila was a privileged character at The Willows.

Joan had seen watch beneath the lighter. "Good heavens, I've been out here at least an hour. I must get back," she said quickly.

He caught her hand. "No, please. Do these American employers demand that the hours when you are not working are also part of a schedule?"

"Oh, no!" Joan laughed. She mustn't let him think that Julian was anything but the most considerate of men.

"But you're missing the party and I've got to be up early in the morning. Mr. Sloane is planning a luncheon at the Braeburn club for all of you and I've things to do long before you leave."

"But you haven't been dancing and I insist that you have one dance with me."

"Well, Joan was dubious but she loved dancing. He danced divinely, as most Latins do.

"Why have you not been at the party all evening? You will be with us tomorrow, yes?" Joan didn't bother to answer him. She simply floated (in spite of her sports shoes) in this man's arms.

"May I cut in?" Joan was transferred from Pierre's broad shoulder to facing that expanse of Alex Garrity's breast pocket that was level with her eyes.

"Hello," she said, "when did you come in?"

"Don't talk nonsense," he said, guiding her skillfully toward the French windows at the end of the room. "In the first place I've been here all evening and you've been somewhere up to mischief."

Joan looked up at him wide-eyed. Which expression on Joan's face was comic.

"Besides when I came in I'm half as important as where you get off." "Et tu, Brutus?" she said.

"That little Latin number you plucked the garden is so correct. Durand, the (do of Paris, and Sheila's newest acquisition. Hands off, young woman or you'll see fireworks!"

"Really?" asked Joan with a happy lift of eyebrows and an interested grin.

VERY SHREWD STRATEGY

MR. D. B. JAMES played the deal shown today. His partner was Mr. Rufus Hemingway. Both are New Yorkers. The former gives his partner full credit for the shrewd strategy employed, but I think that Mr. James was equally smart to so quickly grasp the idea suggested by North.

Bidding went: South, 1-Heart; West, 1-Spade; North, 3-Hearts; with South took as showing game, perhaps a slam; East, 3-Spades, hoping to avert loss of a game; South, 4-Diamonds, as partner might be seeking Aces; West, 4-Spades; North, 5-Diamonds, which might merely be showing the K, as South at first thought, but that hardly could be, as North had not mentioned holding a club Ace. North's last bid must be trying to tell a long story in few words. As South read the message, it urged him to do one of three things: (1) shift the call back to hearts in case South had bid on minimum values, just probably able to score 6 values; (2) with greater than average values, and having more hearts than diamonds, so that a discard might be obtained for dummy, upon South's longer hearts, to bid 6-Diamonds; (3) with greater than average opening bid values, in case diamonds and hearts were of equal lengths, to shift to 6-Hearts. There seemed no hint of bidding a grand slam. That must be for North to decide. So South bid 6-Diamonds, which West declined.

The opening lead was the K of spades. South's Ace won. Three rounds of winning diamonds pulled all opposing trumps, and left each member of the declaring side a trump. There followed five rounds of winning hearts. On the last round dummy's only remaining spade was discarded, completing the ninth trick. The cards held by each player were as shown in diagram.

At the tenth trick declarer led a club. West's Ace captured West's 10. The 10 of clubs was returned and captured by West's Q, giving declarer their first and only trick, as declarer could ruff a club, while dummy could ruff a spade, just fulfilling the doubled slam contract at diamonds, whereas only 5-odd could have been made at hearts. The bidding had shown very shrewd strategy.

Aluminum Not Harmful, Evidence Shows

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Release Monday, June 8, 1936
 EVERY SO OFTEN the fires of the slumbering superstition that aluminum cooking utensils are harmful breaks into flame. The latest example that has been brought to my attention is from a mid-west city where it went so far that a reader of a newspaper actually proposed that an ordinance banning the use of aluminum utensils in eating and drinking houses be passed by the city council.

Nothing could be more unfair, for there is not a jot of proof that aluminum cooking utensils do any harm whatever.

The claims are notable for the fact that they bring forward no facts in proof. For instance, "a cancer specialist" is quoted as saying, "Aluminum has been shown to be one of the great sources of chronic poisoning (about one-fourth teaspoon per person daily). It is one of the sources of chronic poisoning which is cancer producing. Can we wonder that this disease is increasing by leaps and bounds?"

That is simply a flat statement. It contains no proof and is not supported by the opinions of those who are recognized as having made the most careful study of cancer. If such scare-head remarks are broadcast, not but the public the right to demand that they be accompanied by definite evidence to support them?

Little Weight Given by Experts
 How little weight is given much

Before aluminum cooking utensils were put on the market, the effect was carefully tested on a number of human volunteers.

Careful analysis of foods for three meals cooked in aluminum utensils, with both alkaline (that is, baking soda) and acid (vinegar) reactions, show that the total amount of aluminum in the food was less than one-fifth of a grain. This does not look very much like one-fourth of a teaspoon a day.

It is perfectly impossible for anyone to prepare a diet entirely free of aluminum. The earth's crust contains 8 per cent of aluminum as compared with 5 per cent of iron and 3 per cent of calcium. Aluminum, according to Dr. C. W. Edmunds, formerly professor in the University of Michigan medical school, is an element widespread in nature, in the soil and in plants and, therefore, in drinking water and practically all foods.

Even so, aluminum, if taken into the stomach, is absorbed in infinitesimal quantities, and most of it passes out of the system without ever having entered the blood. Late researches on the subject have even inquired into the possible harm which might be done by aluminum if it did enter the blood. Doctors Evelyn and V. C. Myers injected aluminum into the veins of dogs for a long period. It was thus put directly into the blood stream. The dogs showed no ill effects, and most of the aluminum was thrown off by the kidneys or in the bile, with only slight traces remaining in the liver and spleen.

It is cruel to frighten the public with this totally unfounded idea.

Poems That Live

LOVE

Love bade me welcome; yet my soul drew back,
 Guilty of dust and sin.
 But quick-eyed Love, observing me grow slack,
 From my first entrance in,
 Drew nearer to me, sweetly questioning
 If I lack anything.

"A guest," I answered, "worthy to be here."
 Love said, "You shall be he."
 "I, the unkind, ungrateful?" Ah, my dear,
 I cannot look on Thee.
 Love took my hand and smiling, did reply,
 "Who made the eyes but I?"

"Truth, Lord; but I have marred them themselves; let my shame go where it doth deserve."
 "And know you not," says Love,
 "Who bore the blame?"
 "My dear, then I will serve."
 "You must sit down," says Love,
 "and taste my meat."
 So I did sit and eat.

—George Herbert.

NO AND YES

If I could choose my paradise
 And please myself with choice of bliss,
 Then I would have your soft blue eyes
 And rosy little mouth to kiss!
 Your lips, as smooth and tender, child,
 As rose-leaves in a coppice wild.

If fate bade choose some sweet unrest,
 To weave my troubled life a snare,
 Then I would say "her maiden breast"
 And golden ripple of her hair!"
 And wrap amid those tresses, child,
 Contented to be thus beguiled.

Daughters of 1812 Enjoy Meeting in Circleville

Mrs. May Hostess To Chapter At Noon Session

The Jonathan Alder Chapter of the Daughters of 1812 enjoyed its regular social meeting, Saturday, at the home of Mrs. Charles H. May, S. Court-st.

Members were invited for a noon luncheon which was served at small tables centered with garden flowers.

After the short business session interesting reports of delegates to the state council which was held in Cincinnati, were heard. At this state meeting an attendance trophy was awarded the combined Madison and Pickaway county chapter. This trophy is the Mary Beach Bidwell gavel. Mrs. Bidwell, who is now deceased, was past State Regent and the gavel was made from the branch of an apple tree from her orchard.

Those in attendance were, Miss Stella Miller, Miss Louise Neff, Mrs. Clark Beale, Mrs. Robert Trimble, Mrs. J. Wilson McCafferty, Mrs. Frank Hott, Mrs. Oscar Finley, and Mrs. Edgar Baker, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. John Tanner, Mrs. John Copeland, Mrs. Elsworth and daughter, Mrs. Blackmore, Mrs. William Speasmaker and Mrs. James Martin, all of London, and Mrs. Helen Anderson, Mrs. John Boggs, Miss Charlotte Caldwell, Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, Mrs. Orion King, Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Miss Clara Littleton, Mrs. Eleanor Bissel and the hostess, Mrs. May.

Assisting Mrs. May in entertaining were Miss Caldwell and Mrs. Boggs.

The next meeting will be held Monday June 29 at the Anderson-Neff Park at Mt. Sterling. It will be a covered dish dinner.

Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Howard, E. Main-st. entertained at a family dinner party, Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Story and daughters Anne and Clara. The affair was in celebration of the birthday anniversaries of Mr. Howard, Mr. Story and Miss Clara, all of which occur in June.

Following the dinner the group motored to Chillicothe where they visited Mr. Story's mother, Mrs. Willard Story, Sr. who has just returned from a winter in Florida.

MARSHMALLOW CREAM

One-half tablespoon gelatine
One-half cup cold water
One-half cup boiling water
Whites four eggs
One cup sugar
One teaspoon lemon extract
One teaspoon vanilla
One and one-half squares of chocolate

Soak gelatine in cold water five minutes; add the boiling water and place over hot water until dissolved; cool but do not chill. Stir sugar into the dissolved gelatine; beat whites of eggs very light and to the eggs add the gelatine and sugar a few spoonfuls at a time, beating constantly. Divide quickly into three parts. To the first part add a little pink coloring powder and flavor with vanilla. To the second part the melted chocolate and vanilla; to the third part add lemon extract. Mold in layers in a square mold, adding nuts to the pink part and red cherries to the white. Chill, cut in slices and serve with whipped cream.

Far variations, serve with a sauce made with the yolks of the eggs, or very attractive served with ice cream instead of cake.

Jolson and Keeler Star In "Burlesque" June 15

Famous Play of Backstage Life to Be Aired in Radio Theatre;
Theme of Act Sketched

Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler will bring the famous play of backstage life, "Burlesque," to the Radio Theatre when they make their first co-starring appearance in radio drama on Monday, June 15. Produced by Cecil B. DeMille and broadcast from the new Radio Theatre on Hollywood Boulevard in the screen capital, the play will be on the air over a nation-wide WABC-CBS network from 8:00 to 9:00 p. m. (EST).

"Burlesque," which was a great success on both stage and screen, will give Al a chance to sing and Ruby an opportunity for her famous tap dance. Besides that, the two who are often called the "most happily married couple in show business" will play the roles of a stage husband and wife. Jolson, beloved comedian, singer and actor of Broadway musical comedy, the screen and radio is the burlesque comedian, Skid Johnson, in the play. Ruby, whose twinkling toes and appealing voice carried her from a chorus line to stardom, is Bonny, Skid's wife, and the leading lady of the traveling burlesque troupe.

Bonny is devoted to her irresponsible husband and when he gets an offer for a starring part in a New York show, she insists that he take it. An ex-chorus girl from the burlesque company is also in the cast of the New York show and rumors reach Bonny that Skid and the girl are more than friendly.

Bonny divorces him and plans to marry a Western rancher but when she hears that Skid has lost his job in the big show and gone back to burlesque they are reunited.

The play "Burlesque" was written by George Manker Watters and Arthur Hopkins and produced by Arthur Hopkins at the Plymouth Theatre in New York in September, 1927. That was the season Ruby Keeler was climbing to stardom in "The Sidewalks of New York" and Al Jolson was making a picture called "The Jazz Singer" out in Hollywood. Al's move marked the end of the road for the "silents" and the beginning of a new career for him.

Now Al and Ruby make their first co-starring radio appearance as actor and actress in this play about the stage—the burlesque comedian and the "hooper."

Their only previous appearance together was in the picture "Go Into Your Dance." Al's latest picture is "The Singing Kid" and Ruby's, "Colleen."

FIGURES UNCOVERED

Some interesting figures have been uncovered by the Columbia Broadcasting system in its survey of public radio listening.

After an intensive check CBS not only has discovered there are some 22,869,000 radio homes in this country but that the average daily listening period of families is 4.8 hours.

The survey shows that in the America keeps its radio sets in good working order, too. The survey disclosed that 96.1 per cent of sets checked were in good working order. However, more than 15,000,000 radio sets now in use are less than five years old and of this number more than 7,000,000 were purchased within the last two years.

Also interesting, and this is logical, is the fact rural communities do more listening than the larger cities. Towns up to 25,000 produce listeners who average 5.6 hours with their radio sets on against 4.6 for cities of 250,000 or more.

There has been a steady increase in listening hour averages within the last five years. A survey in 1931 showed an approximate average of four hours against the 4.8 average of today. In the income brackets of $10,000 and up it is interesting to note the large number of families owning two or more radio receiving sets—54.5 per cent.

DOWLING AND DOOLEY END SEASON TUESDAY EVENING

Eddie Dowling and Ray Dooley will sign off for the current radio season on Tuesday evening, June 9, when, with Benny Goodman's orchestra, they come to the microphone for their farewell Revue program.

For their last show, to be broadcast over a WEAF-NBC network at 9 p. m. (EST), they plan to tell the radio audience the real story of how Peter Minuit bought Manhattan Island from the Indians.

Eddie and Ray say they will go way back of the story as it is in the history books and tell a "behind-the-skyscrapers" version of one of the most famous bargains ever made.

Benny Goodman and his orchestra, with Helen Ward as vocal soloist, will play the current "swing" favorites as they too bid the Revue audience farewell for the season.

WEILER EXPLAINS LAW ON SCHOOL BUS BUYING

W. E. Weiler, sales tax inspector, issued the following notice Monday concerning school bus purchases:

"Boards of education who buy school buses for their own transportation in hauling school children are exempt from paying the sales tax. However, in order to curb the abuse of exemption granted on 'casual' sales the tax commission has adopted a ruling which states in brief:

"A Payment must be made by the board of education and if later transferred, within 60 days after the purchase, this will be considered tax evasion and the consumer will be liable for the full amount of plus penalty.

"Consequently, it shall be the duty of the seller to produce evidence that the first transaction was legitimate with no intension of tax evasion."

The manner in which the Hearst-owned Arthur Brisbane gushes over the killing and maiming of 250,000 Ethiopians by Murderer Mussolini which he thinks is just too wonderful for words—creates wonder whether the 70-year-old ladder of platitudes is in his second childhood, or, as some have suspected, has never emerged from his first.

On bad days, when everybody seems to dislike you, they are merely agreeing with your opinion of yourself.

PRO THOMPSON AND MADER WIN IN GOLF MATCH

Sub-Par Best-Ball Score Provides Margin; Two Clubs Meet Wednesday

Tod Thompson, popular Pick-away Country golf professional, and Johnny Mader, his amateur partner, had little trouble defeating Allen and Ralph Stewart, Lancaster pro and his son, in an 18-hole best-ball match over the local course Sunday afternoon.

A number of persons watched the match, while the course was well-filled with other golfers.

Thompson scored a sub-par 69 for the 18 holes, tallying six birdies in his two rounds. Mader's gross was 77. The best-ball of the pair figured 67. The best-ball of the Lancaster duo was 75.

The 69 turned in by the local pro is second 18 holes of three below par during the current season. His shots have been true and his putting deadly. Mader is rapidly developing into an excellent partner. Both may be heard from in several pro-amateur matches throughout the district this summer.

Wednesday afternoon a Circleville team will invade Lancaster for an inter-club match. Pro Thompson expects about a dozen golfers in the delegation. He and Mader will meet the Lancaster father and son team in a return match during the afternoon. They face possible defeat there because both Stewarts have broken par often on their home course.

NEW HOLLAND VICTOR IN GAME WITH LONDON

The New Holland Helfrich ball club continued its winning streak with a 4 to 3 victory over London Sunday afternoon at New Holland.

A shortstop's error permitted two runs to cross the plate in the fifth inning to make the score 4 to 2. Shadel Saunders and his boys holding their lead although London threatened in the ninth, the game ending with the tying run on base.

Saunders gave six hits and Hammond for the London crew handed out seven.

LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION TO CHALLENGE BRADDOCK

NEW YORK, June 8 — (UP)—Light-heavyweight Champion John Henry Lewis of Los Angeles meets John Anderson, light-heavy champion of Sweden, in a 10-round non-title bout tonight at Dexter Park.

Anderson is subbing for Al Delaney, who injured his back in final workouts for the match. Lewis said that when he weighs in at the boxing commission this afternoon he will challenge and post a $2,500 guarantee to meet James J. Braddock for the heavyweight title.

Lewis is expected to have little trouble with Anderson.

RAUSENBERGER ELECTED

E. H. Rausenberger, this city, has been elected treasurer of the Ohio Crow Hunters' association. He is treasurer, also, of the League of Ohio Sportsmen.

ANNETTE ROGERS of Chicago, who ran in the relay team which set a world's record in the 1932 Olympics, is shown in a workout in preparation for the Central A. A. U. Women's track meet, to be held in Chicago.

About This And That In Many Sports

Sox Outdraw Cubs

THE WHITE SOX have been outdrawing the Cubs in Chicago, which burns up Philip K. Wrigley, president of the Bruins... another reason for Mr. Wrigley's burning up is the fact that the scribes insisted Wrigley's aversion to parting with cash was holding up the recent transaction of Chuck Klein for Curt Davis... though Wrigley insisted the cash asked by Philadelphia had nothing to do with the case, the scribes told the world the dough was the sticking point.

Unpopularity of the Cubs is not Owner Wrigley's fault, however... the White Sox, though struggling along in sixth place, are fighters, led by a first-class pitcher, Jimmy Dykes... The Pale Hose have partizan followers in Chicago who wouldn't go to see the Cubs play... the team has color and life... Rip Radcliff has been playing the Babe Ruth role this year... and there is no better shortstop in baseball than Luke Appling who has been racing Bill Knickerbocker of the Indians for All-Star selection... Knick shades Luke a bit in fielding, but Appling is far ahead on the attack.

Little Gets $7,500

Tommy Armur had $50 bet that 290 would not be broken by the winner of the National Open golf rumpus at Baltusrol... Lawson Little is on the pay roll of Spaulding's sports goods house at $7,500... Paul Berlenbach, former light heavyweight champion is boss of a cabaret in New York... Prices for the Schmeling-Louis fight run from $5.75 to $40.

Ball Goes 408 Yards

Golfer Jimmy Thomson once whacked a golf ball 408 yards... nice punt... Donald Budge probably will be the next tennis to turn pro... he's getting good... Discovery is expected to start in the Brooklyn handicap June 27 at Aqueduct... Ted Meredith, former United States Olympic star, is coaching the Czechoslovakian team...

Hello, Elmer!

When Wisconsin and Notre Dame meet in fall, it will mark the first time teams coached by Four Horsemen have met... Stuhldreher, now coach of the Badgers, says he doesn't expect to beat Elmer Layden's eleven... yet... England has a lad named Eaton who may run away from the furious Finns over the 10,000-meter route.

Paavo Nurmi has been coaching the Finn distance men... it isn't hard to train Finns... when Nurmi was competing he always was in shape—and always training... the Finns take a lot of pride in their ability to run over the hills and far away.

NO GAMES PLAYED

No ball game was played at the Southern Ohio Electric field Sunday because teams scheduled to play the Cities Service Oils failed to show up. A doubleheader with Yellowbud and Golco Oils as the foes had been announced.

TWO OIL TEAMS TANGLE TONIGHT

Givens to Test Clean Slate of Circleville Outfit

The clean slate of the Circleville Oils will be threatened this evening when the Given Oils, Alfred Jones' fast crew, provides opposition in the softball league.

The Givens have lost two games, the last one on a forfeit after an argument. The Circleville Oils are unbeaten in three games, but they will be without the services of Reger, catcher. It is probable Manager Dick Robinson or Bob Terhune will perform behind the plate.

OWENS JUMP WINNER; METCALFE IN DASH

CHICAGO, June 8—(UP)—A cold wind frustrated record-breaking attempts of Jesse Owens, Ralph Metcalfe and other negro athletes in yesterday's Central A. A. U. Track and Field meet.

The meet was an Olympic try-out.

Owens won the broad jump with 25 feet, 3 inches. Metcalfe won the 200-meter dash in 21.3 seconds. Owens and Metcalfe teamed with Ben Johnson and John Brooks in an attempt to break the 400-meter relay world's record, but their time of 1:14 seconds was 1.4 seconds short of the mark.

Cornelius Johnson of Compton Junior college, and Dave Albritton of Ohio State tied in the high jump at 6 feet, 8 1/4 inches.

LANDRUM AND YOUTHS LEAVE FOR MICHIGAN

Coach Jack Landrum and his crew of 35 youths, plus Elmer Reger and Roy Bowen, left Circleville Monday for Hessel, Mich. for a 10-days' outing. The group consisted of athletes and just plain school boys. At the last minute Laddie Goeller, who had signed up, was unable to go because of illness.

MUGGS McGINNIS

'Surprise' Winner

TONY MANERO, who once was a caddy, broke all existing records for the National Open, golf championship Saturday with a 282, to win the title. Not considered to have a chance, Manero played great golf to defeat Harry Cooper's 284.

MACKENZIE UNDER PAR; TONY MANERO FAR OVER

SHAWNEE ON DELAWARE, Pa., June 8—(UP)—Roland MacKenzie of Washington, D. C., today set the pace for most of the nation's best shot-makers as second round play began in the 72-hole Shawnee open golf championship.

MacKenzie carded a 70, two under par, for his first 18 holes to lead by one stroke Orville White of Chicago and Clarence Doser of Rochester, N. Y.

National Open Champion Tony Manero of Greensboro, N. C., fared badly in the opening round, shooting a 79, going five over par on the outward nine and one over coming home.

LOU MEYER VICTOR

HAMMOND, Ind., June 8—(UP)—Lou Meyer, three-time winner of the Indianapolis Speedway race, followed up Sunday with a victory over Babe Stapp at Roby race track. Meyer defeated Stapp in two five-mile laps in the feature event. Both drove the cars they entered in the Indianapolis classic this year.

YESTERDAY'S HERO: George Selkirk of the New York Yankees, who clouted a home run in the 6th inning to win a ball game.

Dean Bumps Giants Two Time in Four Days; Selkirk Clout Defeats Indians

NEW YORK, June 8—(UP)—Lea (Lippy) Durocher, field captain for the St. Louis Cardinals, long has been known as the best fielding shortstop in the National league, but today he is also the best hitting one.

Heretofore one of the weakest batsmen in either of the major leagues, Durocher has maintained his position on the scrappy Cardinal outfit only through his sensational fielding. The Yankees had him once but let him go because he couldn't hit. That was when he was known as the All-American "out."

But last year "Lippy" showed evidence of getting his eye on the ball when he hit .265, the highest average in his career. This year Leo is leading all the shortstops in the league with the stick, batting at a .330 clip.

The Cardinals took a 6 to 3 decision from the New York Giants yesterday, boosting their margin of leadership to three games, and giving Dizzy Dean his 11th win of the year against two defeats. Dizzy rested only one day after pitching St. Louis to a victory over the Giants Friday, then went out and won yesterday to give the Cards an even break on the four game series.

The Chicago Cubs won 4 to 3 over the Brooklyn Dodgers to sweep the three-game series and retain third place. Tom Baker, with the bases full in the ninth, walked a man to force the winning run home. It was Curt Davis' second victory as a Cub.

Bill Swift allowed only seven hits in pitching the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6 to 2 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies. The Boston Bees made it three out of four over the Cincinnati Reds, winning the finale 8 to 3, to give Danny MacFayden his sixth win.

In the American league the leading Yankees gained a game by defeating the Cleveland Indians 5 to 4. George Selkirk's homer in the 16th inning broke up a beautiful pitchers' duel between Charley Ruffing and Oral Hildebrand. It was Hildebrand's sixth loss and Ruffing's sixth win.

The Chicago White Sox blasted out a 13 to 5 win over the Boston Red Sox, knocking Wes Ferrell from the box with a 16-hit attack.

Third place was taken again by the Detroit Tigers, who defeated the Washington Senators 10 to 8 behind veteran Al Crowder. Eight-hitting hurling by Les Tietje gave the St. Louis Browns a 9 to 5 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Fresh from his triumph in Ethiopia, Mussolini proclaims the Italian army "invincible." It is just possible that the Ethiopians provided something less than a true test of strength in a modern world.

REVIEWING STAND FALLS, 24 KILLED; CAROL IS LAUDED

BUCHAREST, Roumania, June 8—(UP)—Twenty-four persons were killed and 380 to 400 injured today when a grandstand containing 3,000 persons collapsed during a review of Boy Scouts in celebration of the sixth anniversary of King's Carol's accession to the throne, according to early estimates.

King Carol was reviewing the scouts when the stand collapsed. In addition to those severely hurt, it was estimated another 300 were injured slightly.

Remember When?

A runaway team of horses caused the water to be shut off in the eastend.

On March 5, 1912 a team owned by Charles Davis ran away on E. Franklin-st while workmen were loading the wagon with lumber.

A fire hydrant in front of the Franklin-st school was struck by the wagon and broken. The fire alarm was sounded and the water supply in the eastend of the city turned off until the hydrant could be repaired.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Frank Capra, that peer of directors, has taken Gary Cooper, Jean Arthur, an excellent supporting cast, a fine story by Clarence Budington Kelland, and a live, intelligent screen play by Robert Riskin and molded them all into a motion picture so superior that there are few superlatives worthy of it. Its title is "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," and it came to town yesterday settling down at the Cliftona theatre to get an enthusiastic reception from all hands.

From under Mr. Capra's magic wand has sprung a new Gary Cooper, humorous, amiable, vibrant and winning. He seems to have been injected with the same mysterious fluid that electrified Clark Gable into giving the best performance of his life in Mr. Capra's "It Happened One Night."

AT THE GRAND

Harlem may have created that undulating dance known as "Truckin'" but it took a Hollywood show-girl, and an extremely blonde one, to show the colored girls how to swing it.

So Bobby Connolly, dance director of the First National musical, "The Singing Kid" at the Grand theatre, decided after he had tested a total of over 200 trained Negro girl dancers for a "hot Harlem" number. Connolly sent for pretty Eleanor Bayley, platinum blonde dancer who has been featured in many First National musicals.

"Show 'em how to shake it, Eleanor," were Connolly's instructions, and while the Harlems watched every little movement, Miss Bayley strutted her stuff.

BOMBS FOR SHARKS URGED

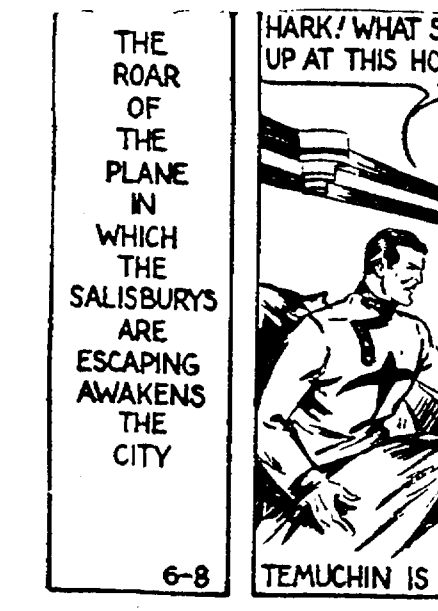

SANTA CRUZ, Cal.—(UP)—City authorities are considering a suggestion that aviation be utilized for ridding Monterey Bay of sharks by having airplanes drop depth bombs on the infested regions. The presence of the sharks is keeping their usual annual haul.

The heaviest and fastest life bridge in the world is located at Newark, N. J. The span weighs 2,100 tons and must be raised 111 feet to permit passage of boats in the Passaic river. It can be raised by electricity at the rate of two and one-half feet per second.

INCH OF RAIN ASSISTS SUFFERING PICKAWAY CROPS

MERCURY RESTS AT 92 SUNDAY; FARM LAND DRY

Dr. Clarke Reports Only Two Rainfalls During May; Much More Needed

Fear of heavy damage to corn and other crops in Pickaway county because of the extreme dry weather was alleviated somewhat Sunday when more than an inch of rain fell. Dr. H. R. Clarke, weatherman, reported 1.06 inches of rain from early Sunday morning until the evening.

Rainfall in the last 60 days has been far under the normal mark. The last rain prior to Sunday was May 19 when less than half an inch was recorded. There have been only three rains since May 2, Sunday's being included.

Much more rain would be appreciated by the county's farmers. Grass is drying up, the corn has been suffering greatly, and the pea crop has been damaged considerably by lack of moisture.

The first rain of the week-end came about 3:30 a. m. Sunday accompanying an electrical storm. The second was early in the evening. It was brief, however.

The highest temperature recorded Sunday was 92 degrees, while 65 was as low as the indicator pointed Monday morning.

G. O. P. DRAFTING FARM PLATFORM

Protection of Market for U. S. Man of Soil First

CLEVELAND, June 8.—(UP)—Republican leaders began holding a farm plank into their platform today that is designed to satisfy voters in the great American "bread basket" without killing pigs and ploughing under crops.

The men making the party's platform were convinced that the 1936 presidential battle will turn on the 15,000,000 votes from the midwestern prairies. With that in mind, they appeared united on the broad principles of an agricultural plan containing these provisions:

Protection of the American market for the American farmer; a system of bounty, equalization or allotment schemes giving farmers a benefit on the proportion of their crops used domestically which would amount proportionally to tariff charges on products farmers must buy; federal aid in disposing of farm surpluses.

The program would not provide destruction of crops or livestock. The tendency of all platform suggestions today emphasized states rights, but it appeared unlikely that proposals for a constitutional amendment to permit states to fix wages and hours of work would be accepted.

SELASSIE MAY VISIT IL DUCE

London Hears Ethiopian May Be Given Throne

LONDON, June 8.—(UP)—Emperor Haile Selassie may go to Rome to negotiate directly with Premier Benito Mussolini if the League of Nations refuses to fulfill its obligation to oppose firmly Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, well informed French quarters said today.

A little while before Haile Selassie fled from Ethiopia, it is known now, Mussolini was ready to offer him retention of his throne and rule over a portion of the Amharic provinces of Ethiopia. Since he arrived in London, the emperor has said that by coming here he had made himself more accessible for negotiations. This remark was interpreted as leaving the way open for negotiations with Mussolini.

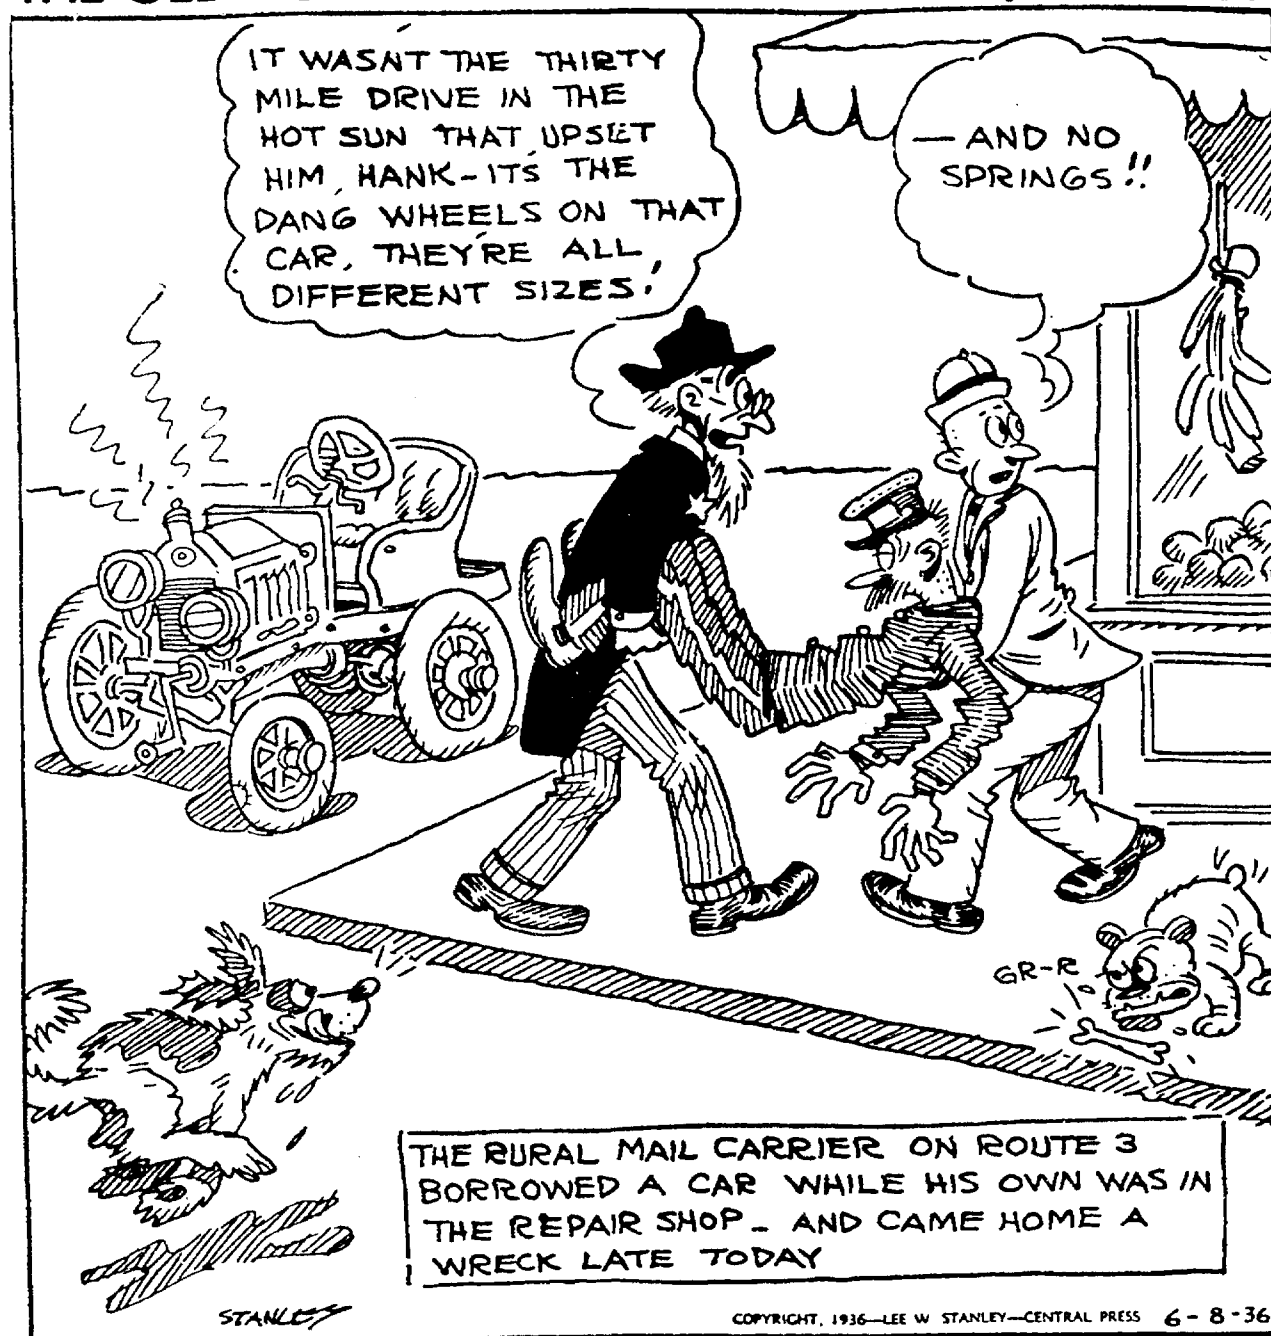

It is not known whether Mussolini is still ready to restore the emperor to a dynastic position as an Italian puppet with a narrowly circumscribed domain. But if confronted with the choice passing his life as an exile or again ruling even a part of his country, it was believed that the emperor might elect to rule, even if under humiliating conditions.

The fact was not overlooked, also, that a direct agreement between Mussolini and Haile Selassie might provide a welcome escape to the league, Great Britain and France from their embarrassing situation. If Haile Selassie submitted to Italian rule, the league would be relieved of the obligation to continue its struggle in behalf of Ethiopia.

cause there are laws against both habits in that state—

"But they have a secret bar, and if you're a delegate you can get anything you want in the way of 'wet' goods at the Landon camp."

Vandenberg Busy

Leadership of the anti-Landon forces lay today between Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Borah. Between them they seek to maneuver Kansas to defeat. Borah's managers are claiming a big early vote and nomination for their man, but the veteran progressive is being marked out of the running by nine observers out of ten.

The Merry-go-round of anti-Landon strategy was demonstrated again over the weekend when the name of Frank O. Lowden, 75-year-old friend of the farmer, was put forward once more as a possible coalition candidate against Landon. Souder was the last-minute organization of a bona-fide Vandenberg-for-president movement which promised to hit the sidewalks of Cleveland today with a band and label buttons to boost the name and fame of Michigan's favorite son.

Vandenberg arrived yesterday and made the first conciliatory move of the pre-convention period. He swung around the political circle of hotel campaign headquarters—Knox, Landon and Borah—With a kind word and a searching eye. But he came away still a vital figure in any movement to get far in stopping the governor of Kansas or even more than momentarily delaying his nomination.

"This is not a stop-Landon movement," Vandenberg explained in assuaging the convention situation 24 hours before gavel time.

"It is a wait-a-minute-to-look-Landon-over movement."

"I am tired of this talk among delegates that they are going to vote for Landon because he is going to be nominated. If he is, the man with the platform to meet a crisis, I am for him. But we must find it out. I will be for Gov. Landon if he is the right man."

YOU DON'T SAVE MONEY WHEN YOU BUY Cheap or Bargain Paint—

BECAUSE THE FIRST COST NOT THE LAST

"Cheap" paint quickly goes to pieces, ruining the appearance of your house. Then this cracked and scaling paint must be burned and scraped off down to the bare wood. That costs money—several times what you hoped to save in the first place. And after that, still more expense—an extra coat (a new priming coat) will be needed. DAVEY'S BOARD MOVES TO JOIN WELFARE UNITS

Bill to Be Presented in Assembly in Month Asking County Action

be empowered to appoint a staff to assist him.

In addition, a non-partisan board would be appointed by commissioners to hear complaints and appeals, Silver said.

With millions of dollars in federal funds available under the security act if Ohio conforms to standards adopted in Washington, committee members are anxious to obtain immediate legislative action on their bill and plan to submit it this month under Governor Davey's message concerning recommendations of the Sherrill committee.

Earlier Bill Vetoes

Although a bill somewhat similar to the proposed one was vetoed by the governor in May, 1935, Silver said the objectionable feature had been removed.

The assembly already has appropriated $1,200,000 for aid to dependent children. Counties are expected to provide a similar sum and, since the federal act calls for the allocation of one dollar for every two dollars spent for aid to dependent children, Ohio may have a total of $3,600,000 for such purposes.

An additional $600,000 is expected in federal funds for blind pensions. This amount and a state appropriation of $175,000 will give Ohio counties more money for blind pensions than they have ever had, Silver said.

"But we must take immediate steps to meet federal standards or face the possibility of losing out in at least a part of the program," he said.

A meeting of representatives of welfare and social organizations will be held here this week to discuss the proposed legislation.
